EMPHATIC

Were All the Replies Made Today by Capt. Dreyfuss at His Trial

POINTED, DIRECT QUESTIONS

Elliott as Sharp Replies and Dramatic Scenes Follow, Arousing Deep Interest.

COURT'S FIRST DAY'S WORK

RENNES, France, Aug. 7.—The trial of Captain Alfred Dreyfuss began at 7 o'clock this morning. Everything was keyed to the event. The guards came on duty at daybreak and all Rennes was on tiptoe at the dead line drawn about court and prison. French troops were stationed along the street across which Dreyfus had to pass to the Lycee. The morning broke bright and warm. The prisoner was escorted across the street by two policemen. Murmurs of curiosity arose from the crowd as he passed, but there was no demonstration. The crowd was apparently in good humor. Following Dreyfus came a number of prominent witnesses, these being ex-president of republic, Casimir Périer, ex-minister of War Zurlinden, Gen. Charninn and others. A majority of these wore brilliant uniforms and were cheered by the crowd. Lieut. Col. Fleury was also applauded, but there were also a few outcries of disapproval.

It was a few minutes past 7 when Dreyfus was ordered to stand up, and the act accused him of betraying French military secrets to a foreign power. At the conclusion of this the prisoner gave his name and age and grade and said: "I am Capt. Alfred Dreyfus who is named in this accusation." He said this very firmly, and did not look as if triumphing but as if about to realize long hope.

During the reading of the accusation the court took a recess to consider the excuse of absent witness. Upon the resumption of the session the reading of the accusation was resumed. At the conclusion thereof the prisoner was ordered to stand, and Col. Jouast said, handing Dreyfus the boudoir: "Do you recognize this?" Dreyfus replied: "I do not." Jouast then said: "Is that not your work?" Dreyfus promptly replied: "It is not." As the prisoner said this he trembled palpably and his voice was thrashing with motion when he repeated: "I am innocent, upon my honor and upon everything I hold dear, my country and my children, I am innocent."

The examination of the prisoner followed and he answered all questions firmly and promptly. His replies to the questions relating to the different documents which concerned the treason were always in the same tenor and were: "I had no knowledge of it," or simply "Never."

The prisoner denied that he had ever visited Germany or Italy on certain dates. His answers were "No," or "Never," with bursts of indignation which sounded through the hall. When the court asked: "Did you cross into Italy carrying documents for a foreign power?" Dreyfus answered with intense emphasis: "Absolutely never." This caused a buzz of excitement from the officers present and the court ruled: "Silence." The scene was highly dramatic.

After a short secret session the court announced it would deliberate on the secret dossier behind closed doors tomorrow or perhaps for a longer period.

The court then adjourned for today.

ROBERTS ARRESTED

Wanted in Bandana for Shooting George Goode.

Said He Could Give Bond—The Offense Was Committed in Ballard County.

Robert Roberts is the name of a big strapping negro who came to the city yesterday to elude Ballard county officers. He attended a barbershop or some other sort of a luncheon blowout at Bandana Saturday night and George Goode, who was a stranger to him, had a difficulty with him and Roberts drew a pistol and shot him and then escaped.

He was a guest of Judge Sanders' this morning and asked about giving bond. He said he would have a bandana here this afternoon to give the $300 bond required.

A reporter asked Roberts about the trouble after court, but he wouldn't talk. He said Goode didn't do anything to him, and if the reporter wanted to know what he did to Goode he would have to ask the doctor, as he didn't wait himself to see.

ABANDONS CONTRACT.

This is What M. B. Tapp, Sub-Road Contractor, Did.

Saturday afternoon late Mr. M. B. Tapp, sub-contractor on the county roads, went before Judge Tully and declined to carry out the contracts he has to make and repair the county roads. This leaves the county with one anyone to do the work, but this morning the six Tapp was to complete were placed in the hands of the supervisor, Mr. James Baker. It is not known what action will be taken against the contractor who thus abandoned the contract.

HAS CHOLERA.

Deputy Sheriff of Pope County Very Ill This Morning.

Mr. J. G. Brooks was called to the New Richmond hotel this morning about 3 o'clock to attend Judge Sheriff A. H. Wallace, of Oldenburg, Pope County, Ill. He found him suffering great pain, and after a diagnosis of the case concluded it was a case of cholera. He remained with Mr. Wallace until 6 o'clock, and left him resting easy. He will doubtless recover.

Mrs. Will Perkins had a hand partially mangled from the shock. Dr. Rivers attended them.

AT THE PARK.

The final result of the voting on the most popular plays was announced at the matinee yesterday. "My Partner," "Prince of Stars" and "My Son Reuben" were the three bills selected. "My Partner" was produced last night and will be given again tonight. It is needless to say anything regarding this bill, as it ran for three nights when first produced and the people of Paducah have selected it as their favorite to be repeated, which is proof of its merit. Wednesday and Thursday nights the stock company will present the "Prince of Stars" and Friday and Saturday night "My Son Reuben" will be on the boards.

HOUSE BREAKING.

George Allen, colored, was arrested last night while trying to force open a shutter at a West Court street resort. He was slated for house breaking, but claimed he went there to meet a colored woman, and in substantiation produced a note from her asking him to call at the time he was caught trying to get in.

The case against him was called in the police court and continued, and the court said he did not think there was anything in the case, from what he could learn.

THE COUNCIL

Regular Meeting Tonight at the City Hall

There Is a Large Amount of Business to Come Up Before the Body.

The regular meeting of the city council will take place tonight at the city hall, and it will be the first regular session for three weeks, hence there will be a large amount of business to transact.

A petition will be read from property holders on Broadway between Third and Second, asking for a sewerage line in the alley between Broad way and Jefferson streets.

A dedication of some property of South Seventh street from Willard to the city for street purposes will be filed, and probably 400 feet will be taken.

It is possible that a new public printer will be elected, but it may be deferred until the next meeting.

WASHOUT ON THE I. C.

One-Fourth Mile of Track Inundated Saturday Night.

Saturday night there was a cloud burst near Claxton, six miles from Dawson, on the Illinois Central, and for quite a distance the water filled the track and was several feet deep.

There was a washout in one place, and the canon ball, No. 3, was delayed about an hour. One fourth of a mile of track was inundated until it was all but impassable.

Engineer John Matthews, on the canon ball, struck the water going at the rate of about 60 or 60 miles an hour, and was frightened.

The old rockery on Broad way near First street, occupied by negroes whom the mayor has tried for some time to dislodge, caught fire from a defective fire and burned a few shingles off the roof. The damage was slight. The building is owned by Mr. C. E. Gridley.

THE CIRCUS COMMENDED.

All exclamations from places where the great Wallace shows have exhibited, seem to be in unison in praising the great Wallace shows. The Wallace, la., Daily Times said:

"The show continued about two and one half hours and when the people went away they had only words of the highest commendation. The whole circus is clean and up-to-date; it is well directed and conducted fantastically. It is replete with new acts performed by the best actors in the business. The acrobatics are all attractive and the people's wardrobe handsome. When the Wallace shows come again more than 10,000 people will go to see them voluntarily, and was left with another man when they left."

The show will exhibit in Paducah Aug. 8, and will be as it should be well patronized.

Don't miss the excursion tonight. Head Champouillon's band.

WANT ANOTHER ALARM.

Tonight a petition will be presented to the city council asking that a fire alarm box be placed on Fountain avenue, for the benefit of the many people who have handsome residences there. The petition will be signed by many residents of the locality, and the box will probably be allowed by the council.

Remember the K. P. excursion tonight.

CAIRO EXCURSION.

The Dick Fowler carried down about 100 Indians, people, and many from other places, to Cairo yesterday, and all had a most enjoyable time. There were two bands, a brass and string band, aboard, and the boat offers as usual, did all in their power to make the trip pleasant.

The case was continued until tomorrow.

MONDAY, AUGUST 7, 1899.

The burden of the Democratic party in Kentucky is Mr. Goebel and on a name it is Mr. Bryan. He is indeed too heavy for a party to bear.

The man at the ballot is the man can purify his party but save the state from political shams.

The argument of the Goebelites their stock in trade is abuse, villainy, attempt at bulldozing, etc.

This is a two-edged knife and sharper injures the handier than anyone else.

The trouble with the Democratic party is not the lack of able men, but the fact that the able men are ignored and the weaklings put to the fore. The party will have a chance if it will disband itself.

"Sec. 151. The general assembly shall provide suitable means for depriving of office any person who to secure his nomination or election has, in his canvass, or election, been guilty of any unlawful use of money, or other things of value, or has been guilty of fraud, intimidation, bribery or any other corrupt practice; and he shall be responsible for acts done by others with his authority, or ratified by him."

The legislature has not obeyed this mandatory provision—although Mr. Goebel was a member of the convention which adopted it and has been continuously a senator. It is amazingly called "a dead letter." There is therefore no mode enacted to deprive one of an office obtained by a fraudulent or corrupt nomination or election; but there is a mode of preventing one who thus obtained a fraudulent nomination from profiting by it—that is by revoking him at the polls. And this is what the protesting Democrats do.

"Those who support Mr. Goebel defend their action on the ground that the convention is the soul and final appeal. Let us apply this constitution in this specific and important argument, and see what it leads to. A nomination, if obtained by any corrupt practice, even if ratified by an election, confers no constitutional title to the office; one who thus obtained an office—even if his election be fair, honest and overwhelming—is a trespasser and usurper. Yet it is gravely argued that Democrats are acting in bad faith not to vote to elect one who, when elected, is a trespasser and usurper—as citizens they are bound by this constitution—no Democrats are they acting in bad faith to obey its mandate and act in accordance with its order. The legislature has failed to perform its duty—but the people can remedy this neglect by the action of the polls."

ISELY CONSERVATIVE.

Mr. H. H. Hahn, chairman of the executive committee of the monetary convention in Indianapolis, where he has returned from a sojourn in the east, a part of which was spent in consultation with members of the same finance committee at Narragansett Pier. To an interview, Mr. Hahn declined to go into particulars about the work of the committee, but expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the prospects for financial legislation at the next session.

"The bill agreed upon," said he, "by the caucus committee of the house at Atlantic City is widely conservative and I am sufficiently familiar with the generalities it will ever know."

The Leader rather disappointed his readers yesterday by not declaring its understood purpose to become a Democratic daily. However, the idea has not, it is said, been abandoned and this week may bring forth the announcement.

In various county seats of the state today, it being county court day in these counties, the Goebelites will open the canvas. In spite of their claim that the Kenton statement has or will have a walk over the alleged Democrats are the danger in front of them, and will use every endeavor to avert it. But the die has been cast and the state now knows all the Goebelites will ever know.

In all announcements for speeches in the state the Democrats have fixed no appointment for Paducah and has only sent some very small fliers to this end of the state. The old Gibsonite always gets the shake of the hand.

The Goebelites have found a new cry to put out against Mr. Brown. They now claim that the ex-governor has only entered the gubernatorial contest with the view of being in line for the senatorial succession to Mr. Lindsay.

The hope of this cry is to create sympathy for Mr. Blackburn, but it won't work as successfully as the Goebelites think. The fact that Mr. Blackburn is in the Goebel gang and this crowd is becoming known as the talented knaves of Mr. Bryan is not pleasant to the Bryanites and they will be heard from in no meager way at the proper time. Then, too, the idea of Mr. Brown on silver gives him great strength, for it is known from one end of the state to the other that the ex-governor was a free silver man before the Nebraska statesman was so conspicuous a figure. The Goebelites will have to hunt another straw.

Two brother in-laws are rival candidates for the mayoralty in Atlanta. They are L. S. Mitchell and Frank Rice and both are now members in the Georgia legislature.

The sympathy of the press, if to be judge by the press, is for the Evans. The Kaiser, however, has no disposition to interfere. In the mean time, it is not likely between them and the hull and there may be a row just when the world thinks all is peace. The outlook in the Evans is not a happy one.

Dreyfus' trial was begun at Reims, France, today. In spite of many sensational publications it has been decided to have the hearing with progress quietly and result in the captain's acquittal. In his first trial Dreyfus was under the necessity of proving his innocence but at that time the government required to prove his guilt, and before the court of cassation has admitted the testimony to the "bendemar," which it has already decided the capitain did not write. The case will draw an immense gathering to Reims and awaken much interest, but it is not going to cause any of the intense disturbances the yellow French journals are prophesying.

There seems a bit of jealousy in the Register's talk about the sale of the News. Now wouldn't it have been more graceful to have issued the newspaper business of the town by having the sale, rather than casting stones in the guise of compliment? His whole article seems based upon the assumption that the purchasers of that sheet were none other than the L. & N. railroad, while the presumption of a healthy stomach and brain is that the purchasers were ambitious and capable young newspaper men who were kindly disposed to this city, as offering a valuable field for their enterprise.

PROMISE FROM THE LAW.

Lexington Herald: "We congratulate the reviving Democracy—the display of ignorance and vulgarity toward them by the Goebel press.

"This anger, not so manifest, is a confession of coming defeat, and the coarse and brutal terms in which it is expressed merely illustrates the necessity for redressing the party from the men who are creating it into contempt."

"This is neither interesting or edifying, but it shows that somebody is hurt, for the hit dog 'bullets,' and the holler a dog."

THE CHOICE OFFERED.

Lexington Herald: "As we saw the venerable and able Captain Phil Thompson escorting Governor Brown to introduce him to the audience at the conference we could not but compare that picture with the representative picture of the Louisville convention.

"It will be remembered that when Senator Blackburn escorted Mr. Goebel to the stage after his nomination for the purpose of introducing him to accept that nominationaphil Lillard, Esq.—who by the grace of Mr. Goebel is the warden of the penitentiary, extended his hands in blessings over their heads and reverently raising his tearful eyes to heaven fervently prayed for your both," and it is reported that Judge Redwine looked down and almost said "Amen." The policemen applauded and Capt. Stone passed down the aisle and out into open air. It was the culminating moment of that phony and holy convention; it was the high water mark of its impure purity.

In contrast to that scene we witnessed the scene at the equilibrium—the opening scene, when in the presence of seven-hundred Democrats gathered in conference in every section of the state, Captain Thompson, a soldier in the war with Mexico, a staunch Democrat for many years, the most successful criminal lawyer of his day and generation, with the courage that has been as famous as that of Prince Rupert, and with an enthusiasm of youth put his hand upon the shoulder of John Young Brown and looking to the future prophesied a tomorrow of sunshine and glory, and Brown with temples gray and hair gray freely given for forty years by his countrymen accepting the leadership of a revolt against corruption and brutal franchise.

The rump convention, the detailed policemen and the heart sick Democrats who had seen their rights blotted from them, were as great a contrast to this hopeful, determined, resolute body of protesting Democrats. Captain Phil Thompson, Epiphany Lillard, John Young Brown—will live! this is the choice offered the people of Kentucky."

THE RIVER NEWS.

OLD YOUNG WOMEN.

Root of the Evil is in Parental Indulgence.

One of the saddest features of present-day life is the condition of even in which even the very young women settle back after their school days are finished, says the Philadelphia Times.

At 18 or 19 they have been everywhere, seen everything, promised whatever their desires have prompted, and just when life should be most filled with beautiful promises, they are hopelessly stranded on the barren shores of indifference.

The root of this evil is to be found in paternal indulgence.

The American father and mother work hard, saving all they can, denying themselves luxuries and oftentimes necessities as well, that their daughter may revel in that which they have never taken the time or the means to enjoy.

From her earliest infancy the girl finds that her highest wish is to be gratified if it is possible, regardless of the fact that what she desires may not be becoming to her age or to her condition of life.

That she wants it is all that the parents consider, so that when the time comes that such gratification would have some significance she is past enjoying it. She has nothing to look forward to, she is surfeited, and should she marry, her husband will find this eneral the greatest bar to their domestic happiness.

A little more indulgence, as nothing but compensation for the doing without that which has marked her pathway up to that time.

PULLED THEM UP.

And Frans Was Perfectly Fledg'd About this Matter.

The woman who has a country house comes to town these days and tells tales of her trials and joys, says the

New York Commercial Advertiser.

She came from Long Island for a day's shopping last week and after glowing accounts of her flower beds and the wonderful kitchen garden she had planned for the summer, she said:

"We always have curious experiences with garden workers and farm hands, not that we do much farming, but we have to have some one to watch over the potatoes and keep an eye on the peas. This year we have five men, and one woman, to help our farm hand, Peter, and Peter set him to work in the onion patch. The onion patch was the pride of my life. It was fertilizing, as nothing—but weeds—had ever troubled in my garden, and

I took more interest in it than progress than I did in my rose bower. Well, well Frans had been busily bending over the onion patch one morning
